Bank Lending: Principles and Practice. Lee, Nimala and Vijay Lee.
This book is for students and professionals working, or intending to work, in a lending-related role. The text provides comprehensive, up-to-date coverage of bank lending, its principles and practices.

Banking and Finance Issues in Emerging Markets. Barnett, William A., and Bruno S. Sergi.

The banking and finance sectors are relevant shares of modern economies and indeed drivers of growth in emerging economies. The majority of existing economic and finance textbooks focus on concepts and theories with briefly expounded real-world examples for illustration. This book, which collects chapters that are the contributions of the acknowledged experts in their fields, fills this gap by featuring in-depth analyses on prominent real-world topics in banking and finance.

Financial Management. Sharma, Abhishek.

The present course is to familiarize the student with the skills related to basic principles, tools and techniques of Financial Management.

The U.S. Banking System: Laws, Regulations, and Risk Management. Lessambo, Felix I.

The U.S. banking system differs from many countries both in the range of services supplied and the complexity of operations. Meanwhile, the U.S. financial markets have become the attraction of worldwide investors. This book explains the three key aspects of the industry: the laws governing the banking institutions, the regulations thereof, and their economics and financial statements in a manner not covered by any competitive publications, of interest to both professionals and scholars who want to better grasp this industry. Auditing a bank and/or liquidating a bank require a set of rules not always well understood. The book provides such an overview.
